ABOUT UNITAR
The United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR) was established in 1965 as an autonomous body within the United Nations and is headquartered in Geneva, Switzerland. The mandate of UNITAR is to enhance the effectiveness of the work of the United Nations and its Member States in the fields of peace and security and in the promotion of economic and social development. UNITAR designs and conducts worldwide some 230 different training activities per year for more than 80,000 beneficiaries, including diplomats and other government officials, non-governmental representatives, and local authorities.

ABOUT THE UNITAR HIROSHIMA OFFICE
The UNITAR Hiroshima Office, by virtue of the resonance of its location, has an inherent strength in the areas of post-conflict reconstruction as well as the broader themes of international peace and security. The Office has been heavily involved in capacity building in Afghanistan since 2003 with its annual Fellowship for Afghanistan Programme, and other customised training programmes for various ministries and organisations in the country. This includes multi-tier Training-of-Trainers and Coaching-for-Coaches sessions since 2006.

The UNITAR Hiroshima Office, due to the significant amount of training undertaken in collaboration with entities in Afghanistan, also has a staff member based in Kabul, allowing for timely interaction with beneficiaries and partner agencies, as well as for up-to-date information and insight to the changing realities in the country.

FELLOWSHIP FOR AFGHANISTAN
The Fellowship is an annual seven-month long programme, which builds the capacity, and enhances the leadership, management and professional skills of a core group of senior government officials, academics and practitioners from Afghanistan.

The Fellowship discusses important themes related to the effective governance of Afghanistan by and for Afghan nationals themselves, a crucial requirement for the future of the nation following 2014. These include:

- Organizational Development
- Organizational Change
- Project Design
- Project Management
- Human Resource Development
- Human Resource Management
- Accounting and Budgeting
- Leading and Mentoring Teams for Development and Change
- Team-building and Teamwork
- Communication Skills
- Strategic Planning

FELLOWSHIP CORE PRINCIPLES:
- The enrolment of highly qualified and experienced participants from a variety of disciplines;
- On-the-job training: participants undergo training while continuing with their jobs;
- A mentorship-based learning process, which seeks to address the specific individual needs of each Fellow;
- An effective combination of various training methods—on-site workshops and distance learning mechanisms;
- Building professional networks within the country and between Afghanistan and the rest of the world—with capacities to contribute to the reconstruction of the country and its institutions.
The Fellowship seeks to contribute to sustainable learning in the workplace and to build on the capacity of the Afghan civil service as it works to rely on its own ability and lessen its need to depend on the human resources and expertise provided by the international community.

Since its launch in 2003, the Fellowship has completed nine cycles, with a total of over 300 participants having taken part. In this report, an overview of the events during the 2013 Cycle in particular, and the outputs and successes of the programme as a whole are presented.

FELLOWSHIP OBJECTIVES

At the initial stage the Fellowship aims to contribute to capacity building in Afghanistan by enhancing Fellows’ leadership, executive and professional skills and helping them to achieve their personal learning and professional development goals.

The Fellowship’s two long-term objectives are:

a) To support Fellows in the application of their new knowledge and greater confidence to the transformation of their respective ministries and organizations through:

   • Achievement of mandates and objectives despite limited resources;
   • Facilitating effective team work and coordination within the organization through mentoring and teambuilding;
   • Networking and collaborating with stakeholders and other organizations;
   • Leadership and management of capacity building;

b) To build a committed and highly capable Fellowship community in Afghanistan which can serve as a resource for planning and implementing capacity-building and training activities at the local and national levels.

FELLOWSHIP STRUCTURE

FELLOWS

• First time participants in the programme. Fellows are the main beneficiaries of the cycle, and are divided into groups at the beginning of the Fellowship.

COACHES

• Coaches are selected from the stand-out Fellows of previous cycles and are tasked with providing unity and guidance to the group.
• Coaches are also responsible for being the main contact point between Mentors and the groups as a whole.
• Coaches receive additional “Coaching-for-Coaches” training so that they may continue their professional development while being equipped with the skills to coach their group.

AFGHAN RESOURCE PERSONS (ARPs)

• Selected from the stand-out Coaches of previous cycles, ARPs act as apprentice faculty and work to contextualise the training being offered to the changing realities in Afghanistan.
• ARPs are offered further training in a module specifically designed for them, examining social entrepreneurship.
MENTORS
• Mentors are experts, practitioners or academics in various disciplines.
• They are individuals willing to volunteer and share their knowledge, to guide and advise where requested, and are comfortable in a two-way learning relationship.
• The Mentors/Mentor teams, together with the Coaches will be asked to commit to overseeing at least one group of five to six ‘mentees’ for the duration of each Cycle.
• Mentors may also act as Resource Persons.

RESOURCE PERSONS
• Resource Persons provide the main presentations for the programme and attend workshops, either in-person or electronically.

TEAM PROJECT WORK
ASSIGNMENT I
Each Fellow undertakes an organization/needs assessment in her/his workplace for one of the following purposes:

1) To determine the needs and service requirements of a population or customer group served by the Fellow’s organization;
2) To determine the capacities and priority needs of the Fellow’s organization in order to more effectively support the organization’s mission; or
3) To determine the capacities and priority development needs of a particular group of employees within the organization (e.g., supervisors, engineers, scientists, teachers, secretaries, etc.)

In the weeks in between Workshop I and Workshop II, Fellows are be offered guidance by UNITAR’s team of Mentors, Coaches and Afghan Resource Persons. Following individual presentation of the findings of Assignment One at Workshop II, each team uses the results of the organization needs assessments to decide on a team project.

ASSIGNMENT II
Assignment II sees teams tasked with developing a concept paper in the form of a high-level Project Plan. Elements of the Fellowship covered in Workshop II contribute greatly to the development of Assignment II. This process also is focused upon by the Coaches, ARPs and Mentors, and discussed at length during Audio Conferences.
ASSIGNMENT III
Assignment III calls for the development of a team project plan for organizational development or change projects for Afghanistan. Through a formal presentation involving all group members, a report is made upon the development of a detailed project plan for the team’s organizational development or change project as developed through Assignments I and II.

FELLOWSHIP METHODOLOGY HIGHLIGHTS

CURRICULUM EMPHASIS ON LEADERSHIP AND MENTORING:
Endeavouring to widen the impact of the Fellowship, UNITAR has placed special emphasis on methodology and skill development related to leadership and mentoring. The objective in this respect is to develop the capacity of each Fellow to be a leader and facilitator able to contribute to organizational and Human Resource Development within his/her respective ministry or organization.

The outcomes of the projects undertaken by most of the teams over the last few cycles indicate that this objective was met with a considerable degree of success. Special efforts have also been made to ensure the Fellows’ team projects focus on management of change and organizational development, and the necessary skills and knowledge to support the process have been included as the recurring themes throughout the Cycle curriculum.

COMBINATION OF DIFFERENT TRAINING METHODS:
The Fellowship undertakes a combination of different training methods with a series of skill-building activities, including:

- On-site workshops
- Study-trips
- Mentor/ARP/Coach/Fellow communication
- Team projects
- Distance learning activities

VIDEO SEMINARS
Throughout the Fellowship, Video Seminars link Fellows, as a group, to Resource Persons around the globe. Presentations delivered during such events correspond to the phase in the Fellowship at which the Fellows find themselves and have included, amongst others:

- Tools For Maximising Performance
- Training As A Capacity Development Tool
- Conflict Resolution
- Leadership Development
- Risk Identification and Mitigation
- Results Based Management
AUDIO CONFERENCES

All groups are connected via Skype to both UNITAR and their Mentors every 4 weeks so that the project and Fellowship process can be discussed. Standing as milestones in the programme, these conferences are augmented by ad-hoc discussions between group members, Coaches, ARPs and Mentors.

COACHING FOR COACHES MODULE

The Coaching for Coaches Module starts before the official launch of the Fellowship. To facilitate the Coaches’ responsibility of guiding the Fellows through their assignments, the first six web-based sessions are conducted prior to the official launch of the Fellowship to ensure they are prepared in time. The topics covered include:

- Coaching and Mentoring Skills
- Team-building
- Gatekeeping
- Conflict Resolution
- Motivation
- Management of Productive and Effective Meetings

Two subsequent web sessions conducted during the Fellowship Cycle primarily focus on the challenges faced by Coaches thus far. Prior to each session, Coaches are given assignments and background reading. They are also asked to manage and facilitate the Fellowship Orientation workshop, as well as After-Action Reviews (AARs) at all Workshops. As a final requirement Coaches, along with the ARPs are asked to organize a Cycle De-briefing Seminar.

ARP TRAINING MODULE: SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP

A crucial element in the UNITAR Hiroshima Office methodology is the continuing facilitation of learning and skill-building for our ARPs. Launched in 2013, the ARP Training Module on Social Entrepreneurship, subtitled “Solving Social Issues by Creating Innovation, Jobs, Social Leaders and Global Citizens” encourages ARPs to analyse the skills and insight they have gained in the previous two iterations of the Fellowship, and how this can be utilized to develop their own leadership legacy, and outline ways in which this can be utilized to solve a social issue.
2013 Cycle Workshop Reports
Workshop One

17 – 19 JUNE | KABUL, AFGHANISTAN

Workshop I, attended by 58 Fellows, 10 Coaches, and 5 ARPs, took place at the Ministry of Finance in Kabul, between 17 and 19 June 2013. Workshop I stands as an opportunity to introduce the new intake of Fellows to the structure, process, expectations, vision and goals of the Fellowship process. In an effort to delineate roles and responsibilities of the Fellowship, much of the facilitation and presentation of material assigned to the Afghan Resource Persons and Coaches, who introduce elements of the programme, utilising their experience of learning, and subsequent implementation, to underscore the practical focus of the Fellowship.

OBJECTIVES:
By the end of the Workshop, participants were to be able to:

- Outline three types of distance learning tools and their role in blended learning;
- Prepare and implement an Organisational Needs Assessment;
- Differentiate between types of written communication skills, and outline instances for the use of each;
- Apply differing types of oral communication skills;
- Prepare, and implement, productive meetings;
- Describe the goals of the UNITAR Fellowship for Afghanistan Programme.

OUTLINE:
The workshop began with opening comments delivered by Dr Sayed Mohammad Amin Fatimie, Ambassador of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan to Japan. The Ambassador thanked UNITAR for their efforts in the post-conflict reconstruction of Afghanistan to date, and encouraged the Fellows to truly take advantage of the training offered to make effective and lasting change in Afghanistan.

Welcome comments were then made by Berin McKenzie, Specialist at the UNITAR Hiroshima Office, and coordinator for the Fellowship programme. Mr McKenzie thanked the Coaches and ARP's for their commitment to the programme, while also acknowledging the selfless involvement and guidance delivered by the Mentors in the Fellowship.

The first engagement session of the Workshop saw the Fellows, Coaches, and ARPs form into their assigned groups for the first time and discuss expectations, and examples from the Fellowship. This presented an opportunity for the Coaches and ARPs to outline not only the procedural requirements of the programme, but also the incorporation of lessons a learned and skills developed to their daily lives, and the impact that this has had in their professional realm.

This was followed by an introduction to Distance Learning, delivered by Freshta Yousufi, an ARP for the 2013 Cycle. The presentation outlined ways in which Fellows can maintain... contact with their Mentors, ARPs and Coaches throughout the Fellowship, as well as the benefits and disadvantages of Distance Learning.

Day Two saw the central presentation of the Workshop, examining Organisational Needs Assessment, which forms the basis of Assignment One, and informs the rest of the Fellowship process. This was delivered online by Humaira Kamal, a Senior Advisor to UNITAR, and one of the key figures in the development and life-cycle of the programme. The presentation was augmented by a panel discussion led by the ARPs, which served to contextualize the information being presented to the context of both Afghanistan and the Fellowship itself.

Presentations were then made on Written and Oral Communication Skills, as well as the Management of Effective Meetings, and the relations of each to not only the Fellowship itself, but to effective process and leadership within the civil service.

Throughout the Workshop, groups were making contact with their mentors, via scheduled Skype sessions. This allowed for Fellows, Coaches, and ARPs to meet with Mentors and discuss expectation, obligations, and means of communication throughout the Fellowship process. The workshop concluded with panel discussions of previous graduates outlining the impact that the Fellowship process had had on their professional and personal lives.
Workshop One Evaluation Data
2013: EVALUATION

The evaluation method employed for the UNITAR Fellowship for Afghanistan – Workshop I was two level evaluation questionnaires: Participant Self-Assessment questionnaire which allowed participants to evaluate their individual (pre-existing) knowledge, skill and competencies on the subject matter so as to create awareness about participant learning needs and help enhance their learning levels. Participant feedback questionnaire captured individual reactions to the overall quality of the Workshop and allowed for their feedback to be heard and incorporated in future Workshops. Both questionnaires were made available to all participants from the beginning of the Workshop, covering the individual learning needs as well as the application process, pre-Workshop build-up and the Workshop itself.

The overall purpose of the evaluation was: to analyse the relevance and direction of the overall content of the Workshop; and the performance of the UNITAR Hiroshima Office as a whole in delivering the Workshop. Major findings of the Workshop are analysed and recommendations will be incorporated when planning for next Workshop.

The participant feedback evaluation questionnaire examined the following areas in detail:

- Pre-Event Information
- Learning Objectives
- Value, Relevance and Intent to Use
- Methodology
- Satisfaction with the Quality of Facilitator
- Applicability of After Action Review and Practical Exercises
- Overall Satisfaction of the Event

Workshop Two

22 – 26 AUGUST | ABU DHABI, UNITED ARAB EMIRATES

Workshop II, attended by 58 Fellows, 10 Coaches, 5 ARPs, 3 Mentors and 2 Resource Persons, totalling 78 participants, took place in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates, between 23 and 27 August 2013. The Workshop allowed Fellows to gain an in-depth understanding of Leadership and Project Management, while working to contextualise the information received for the realities of Afghanistan through Assignments II and III.

MODULE I: Leadership and Organizational Development for Performance and Results
These sessions aimed at helping Fellows understand the concept of how sound leadership and planned organizational development can maximize performance and produce desired results. They also aimed to support Fellows to develop Group projects addressing the common needs of their organizations, while enhancing their understanding of the obstacles and opportunities in the organization development and change process. The intensive session on Group challenges helped Groups to improve their communication levels and expertise in Group development.

MODULE II: Project Planning, Design and Proposal Writing
These sessions aim to equip participants with basic knowledge of project planning, and raising sponsorship and financial support for projects within organizations and from external stakeholders. This skills-training offered in the workshop also facilitates the Fellows’ work on their Group projects.

OBJECTIVES:
In addition to reviewing Fellows’ assignments, and assessing their progress to date, by the end of the Workshop, participants were to be able to:
  • Describe the role of leadership and organizational development as tools for maximizing performance within organizations;
  • Review key concepts in group projects;
  • Discuss relevant areas of project planning;
  • Outline required skills in proposal writing
  • Restate important stages in coaching and group development.

OUTLINE:
The workshop began with individuals presenting the findings of Assignment One, the Individual Needs Assessment, to their peers, as well as to attending UNITAR Staff, Mentors and Resource Persons. This began the process of Groups deciding which project would be selected as a joint project, to be focused on both at this workshop and upon their return to Kabul.
Resource Person Dr Michael Fors, of Microsoft Corporation, then outlined coaching and facilitation skills, incorporating the art and science of shaping a high performance Group through the following headings:

- The Facilitators Role
- Facilitator: Levels of Involvement
- Balancing Roles for Success
- Facilitator: Objectives
- Subjective Judgement
- Feedback
- Recognition
- Sources of Conflict

This was followed by an introduction to work styles, and in particular the DiSC Personality Profile test, a behaviour assessment tool, which allowed participants to understand more closely their own emotions and motivating factors, as well as giving insight into the make-up of their Group. Fellows were tasked with identifying any strengths and potential blindspots that they may possess as individuals and Groups.

With participants now focused on their Group, and the path that lies ahead of them during the Fellowship, Dr Fors outlined differing stages in Group development, with a focus on the Tuckman Model, as proposed by Bruce Tuckman:

- Forming
- Norming
- Storming
- Performing

Each stage was examined, as were individual roles to support Group development, and ways in which to counter conflict. Utilising a documentary on a performance of Ravel’s “Bolero” by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, the session then examined the role of leaders within Groups, as well as the importance of communication and collaboration between Group members. The follow-up discussion was particularly enlightening as Groups examined role allocation within their Group, and in Afghanistan as a whole.

Groups then dispersed to five practical Group-work exercise “stations” which featured advanced Group-building and collaboration/communication activities, which served to reinforce the materials presented.

The next session examined Coaching and Facilitation, and was followed by Groups meeting to utilise the information and feedback given to date, along with all of the learning facilitated, to then discuss and decide upon which of the Individual Needs Assessment projects would be adopted as the Group project which will be the focus of the remainder of the Fellowship.

Discussions were monitored by assembled Coaches, ARPs, Mentors, Resource Persons and UNITAR staff, with the final decision made by Fellow themselves. Overall, it was felt that the focus, scope and diversity of the projects decided upon would make for an excellent 2013 Cycle.

Following the decision making process, Dr Fors then guided the assembled Fellows through the Project Planning process, including the following elements:

- Sponsorship
- Leadership Roles
- The Sponsors Perspective
- Project Plan Ingredients
- Keys for Project Success
- Needs Assessment
- Problem Statement/Opportunity
- Defensible Data
- Target Constituents
- Deliverables
- In Scope/Out Scope
- Stakeholders
- Assumptions
- Group Selection and Management
- Decision Making
- Risk Analysis and Contingency Planning
- Cost benefit Analysis
- Communications Planning
- Milestones
- Benchmarking
- Resources
- Indicators
- Success

Following an After Action Review, led by the Coaches, the programme continued with Ms. Winifred Loh, one of the Mentors of the Fellowship, attending the programme at the behest of the Singapore International Foundation, expanding upon her “Gender@Work” Module, which had been initiated as a Video Conference some three weeks before the workshop.

Utilising real world examples, the session examined successes and failures of gender specific practices in implementation, with Fellows urged to consider these in the context of Afghanistan. A spirited debate ensued, with some excellent examples also raised of both poorly and successfully developed and implemented gender-related programmes in Afghanistan. Overall the session served as an excellent cap to the Video Conference.

Professor David Eaton, of the University of Texas at Austin, and one of the architects of the Fellowship Programme, was then tasked with outlining Project Design and Writing, so as to prepare the Fellows for Assignment Two of the Fellowship. Stressing the need to connect with donors, Professor Eaton outlined the need for the following to be incorporated into any project design process:

- Need
- Response to Need
- Goals
  - Inputs
  - Outputs
  - Process
  - Outcomes
- Tasks
- Methods
- Measurement
- Timetable
- Budget
- Ideal Result
- Documentation
After outlining each of these entries, and linking them to the Fellowship to date, as well as to Afghanistan in general, Professor Eaton then had Groups utilise the training presented, using the projects recently adopted. During this process, once again, the assembled Coaches, ARPs, Mentors, Resource Persons and UNITAR staff worked with Groups, allowing for them to examine the developing proposals from many viewpoints.

The workshop closed with Groups presenting the project plans to their peers, with time given for not only feedback and questions from the assembled Mentors and Resource Persons, but also the other Fellows. This allowed for the exchange of experience and best practices, as well as insight into the networking opportunities the Fellowship represents.

The Fellows returned to Kabul enthusiastic, and focused upon the requirements of Assignment Two.

CONCLUSIONS AND NEXT STEPS:

EVALUATION DATA:
As outlined below, a full 93% of respondents agreed or strongly agreed that the programme was “very useful”, with 84% indicating that the content of workshop stimulated their involvement. From a total of 48% of participants who felt that they possessed an average to moderate “…understanding of Public Planning” before the Workshop, 80% of respondents felt that they had gained a high understanding of such in the interim. Similarly, with regard to an “…understanding of leadership and organizational development as tools for maximizing performance within organizations”, those indicating that they had a high to moderately high understanding grew from 34% of total respondents to 77% by the end of the Workshop.

With regard to the methodology utilised in the Workshop, including interactive lectures, after-action reviews, practical exercises and study visits, 86% of respondents indicated that they “strongly agree” or “agree” that it was useful. Similarly, the trainers/facilitators of the programme were seen as effective at presenting information by 86% of respondents.

Overall, the responses received were overwhelmingly positive. Several requests were made for increased real-world examples and practical exercises, so that participants may work to incorporate the training offered into their own national and local contexts. UNITAR will work toward increasing the amount of time allowed for group work and discussion in future programmes.

Following a round of in-depth comments by the Panel, the day was adjourned, with participants enjoying dinner before boarding buses to the Oriental Hotel in downtown Hiroshima, which was to be the location for the remainder of the programme.

Day Two of the programme began with a group exercise to allow Fellows to determine how their groups were acting as a team, and what implications this would have moving forward in the Fellowship. Each team was asked to develop and produce a “safety helmet” for use in Afghanistan and to be exported to the rest of the world. Teams were given 45 minutes to design and construct a prototype of a safety helmet to protect the heads of cyclists, motorcyclists, and even parachutists, with only very limited resources and without access to computers.

Each team was provided with a raw egg to simulate a human head, and around which the “helmet” was to be fitted. The “helmet” had to be produced with the available materials and the teams were asked to provide a detailed cost estimate. Before unveiling their product, each team was asked to give a two-minute presentation outlining the benefits of their product. The goal of the exercise was to develop the best product at the lowest cost that would prevent the “brains” from scrambling when the egg is dropped on the floor from a height of three metres. Four out of the ten groups managed to protect the egg, however, many of these had gone over budget. This discussed, along with team roles and development stages, during the following after-action review period, led by Coaches.

PROJECT IMPLEMENTATION

Dr Michael Fors, General Manager of Readiness for Microsoft Services, Microsoft Corporation
Mr Musa Kamawi, Director, Human Resources, Ministry of Finance of Afghanistan, UNITAR Honorary Faculty Member

Dr Fors then moved on to elements of project implementation, particularly the project architecture that the Fellowship follows, namely:

The presentation then examined the following themes, and how they relate to project implementation:

- What is an Organisation?
- Why do Organisations Exist?
- What is Organisational Development?
- Why is Organisational Development important?
- Systematic Performance
- Project Implementation
  - Project Design – Now What?
  - Elements of Project Success
  - Constituents
  - The Project Implementation Process
- Selling the Importance of Project Implementation
  - Elements of Pitching a Project
• Identifying Project “Fit” in an Organisation
  o Vision and Strategy Fit
  o Structural Fit
  o Culture Fit
  o Process Fit
  o Performance Management Fit
• Securing Implementation Sponsorship
• Leading a Project Implementation Team
  o Team Selection and Management
• Communication
• Measurement
• Scaling Project Success

During this process, teams were required to use the information being presented to develop an implementation plan for their projects.

In order to augment these presentations, as well as to both contextualise the topics covered to the realities of Afghanistan and to urge the Fellows to incorporate lessons learned in real world situations into the project proposals, a presentation was made by Mr Musa Kamawi. Utilising examples of both successful and failed projects from Afghanistan, projects familiar to many of those present, Mr Kamawi ran through the key elements of each project, and how these contributed to its success or failure. These included:

• Background
• Specific Objectives
• Project Design
• Roles and Responsibilities
• Project Implementation
• Key Indicators
• Factors Contributing to Success
• Factors Contributing to Failure

Following this, Mr Kamawi oversaw a beneficial practical exercise session where Fellows examined projects within their own organisations which had been successful, or had failed, as well as the factors contributing to this.

Day Two was capped with a Welcome Reception graciously hosted by the Prefectural Government of Hiroshima, and with speeches by the Chief of International Affairs for the Hiroshima Prefectural Government, Mr Takashi Murakami. Fellows reported that the Reception served to make them feel most welcome in Hiroshima, with the evening culminating in a spontaneous traditional dance performed by many of the participants.

ORGANISATIONAL CHANGE MANAGEMENT
Ms. Shona Welsh, Manager of Corporate Training and Continuing Education University of the North Atlantic

Day Three saw Ms. Shona Welsh work with the assembled Fellows on Organisational Change Management, a crucial aspect of the Fellowship, and one of its overarching goals. Examining reasons leaders fail, as well as common mistakes in the change management process, the presentation outlined key areas of caution for the Fellows as they worked on their project implementation plans.

Fellows were then encouraged to discuss elements which can help or hinder change efforts in organisations. Incorporating the outcomes of these discussions, the presentation the examined two transition models, namely:
Ms. Walsh then examined approaches to develop and deliver change communications, linking this to key questions that are asked by employees during change processes, with the Fellows encouraged to analyse these questions during their project implementation and communication plan development stages.

How change efforts are communicated was then analysed utilising an Obligations and Expectations Accountability Agreement, as well as the importance of separating fact from assumption during this process. Finally, the presentation examined Coaching as an Individual Change Management Tool, arming Fellows with skills and approaches for developing change management strategies on an individual level, as well as that of a scaled, departmental, or ministerial level.

POST-CONFLICT RECONSTRUCTION
The Story of Hiroshima

Day Four began with Fellows working in their groups on their final presentations for the final day of the programme, aided by the assembled Resource Persons, Mentors, and UNITAR staff. The afternoon session saw a presentation by Ms. Kahori Wada, of the Hiroshima Peace Memorial Museum Curators Office, outlining the events of August 6 1945, and the impact upon Hiroshima and its citizens, along with their rebuilding of the city. A subsequent Study Tour was held (see Box 1.1 above).

Following the Study Tour, all participants were invited to attend the 77th UNITAR Public Session, examining Post-2014 Afghanistan and the Role of Japan. In order to benefit the local and international community, as well as to enhance exchanges between UNITAR and the people of Hiroshima, the UNITAR Hiroshima Office regularly invites leaders and experts – academics, diplomats, politicians, international and national civil servants, and nongovernmental organisation representatives – to give presentations. Since 2003, more than 4,300 people have attended such sessions.

With 2014 seeing the withdrawal of a significant number of troops from Afghanistan as well as a presidential election in the country, this Public Session provided an important opportunity to consider the direction of post-2014 Afghanistan as well as the role of Japan.

Speakers for the event included:
- H.E. Dr Sayed M. Amin Fatimie, Ambassador of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan to Japan
- Ms. Akiko Kawabe, First Secretary, Embassy of Japan, Afghanistan
- Mr Haruyuki Shimada, Japan International Cooperation Agency, South Asia Department

Mr Brandon Turner, Officer in Charge of the UNITAR Hiroshima Office, provided opening remarks and expressed great appreciation to the speakers and the Afghan and Japanese partners for their support to UNITAR to assist with capacity building for Afghanistan. This was followed by Dr Fatimie’s speech, in which he expressed gratitude to UNITAR and the United Nations for the long-term partnership in building the capacity of Afghan officials. and to the Government of Japan for the multi-sector support it has provided. He also outlined the challenges that Afghanistan has faced, the great efforts that have been made since to bring development, peace, and freedom, and the future path of the nation. Presentations by Ms. Kawabe and Mr Shimada examined the long and cooperative relationship between Japan and Afghanistan, and the multi-faceted approach of Japan to post-conflict reconstruction in Afghanistan. The event was attended by 147 people. UNITAR thanks the Prefectural Government of Hiroshima and the Municipal Government of Hiroshima for their collaboration in this event.

GROUP PRESENTATIONS

All Fellows

The final day of the workshop saw Fellows provide group presentations again, but on updated project proposals incorporating feedback and information gained since Day 1 of the workshop. In this session, the Resource Persons, Mentors, and UNITAR Staff adopted the role of a panel of potential donors to the project proposals. Following eight minutes of presentation per Group, each member of the panel raised a coloured indicator to reflect their review:

- Green: Fully support the project as presented in the proposal

The results of the presentations were as follows:

INTRODUCTION TO THE SOCIAL ENTREPRENEUR

Dr Michael Fors, General Manager of Readiness for Microsoft Services, Microsoft Corporation

Mr Bismillah Muhib, 2013 Afghan Resource Person

In working to close the workshop, Dr Fors outlined the potential of social entrepreneurship as a means to bridge the gap between government, business, and the people in order to solve social issues.

Following this, and once again to contextualise the ideas presented to the realities in Afghanistan, a presentation was made by Mr Bismillah Muhib, an Afghan Resource Person for the 2013 Cycle. The presentation incorporated elements of the Social Entrepreneurship module, developed specifically for the Afghan Resource Persons of the Fellowship in the 2013 cycle, coupled with real life experiences of Mr Muhib in the field. The presentation outlined the following elements, in relation to a Youth in Action paper bag business in Afghanistan:

- The idea of the project
- The history to date of the project
- The beneficiaries
- Raw materials required
- Production processes
- Distribution processes
- Potential competitors
- Finance plan
- Expected income
- Budget

The discussion that followed provided excellent insight for the Fellows into the complexity of such projects within Afghanistan, but also their potential impact.

FELLOWSHIP REFLECTIONS AND CLOSING

Ms. Humaira Kamal

In closing, Ms. Humaira Kamal led a reflections session on the Fellowship to date, requesting Fellows to comment on their time in Hiroshima, and throughout the Fellowship. Responses were made in written and oral form, including poetry, and many expressed the hope and inspiration the participants had gained from the story of Hiroshima, as well as the very practical and real-world elements of the Fellowship process. All Fellows were then awarded with a certificate, and the workshop was formally closed.

Workshop Three Evaluation Data
2013: EVALUATION

The evaluation method employed for Workshop III was a two-level evaluation questionnaire: A Participant Self-Assessment questionnaire, which allowed participants to evaluate their individual (pre-existing) knowledge, skills and competencies on the subject matter, so as to create awareness about participant learning needs and help enhance their learning levels. The Participant Feedback Questionnaire captured individual reactions to the overall quality of the programme and allows for their feedback to be heard and incorporated in future iterations of the programme. Both questionnaires were made available to all participants from the beginning of the session and cover individual learning needs as well as the application process, pre-session build-up, and the session itself.

The overall purpose of the evaluation is: to analyse the relevance and direction of the overall content of the programme while also quantifying the performance of the UNITAR Hiroshima Office as a whole in delivering the programme. Major findings of the programme are analysed and recommendations will be incorporated when planning for next programme.

The participant feedback evaluation questionnaire examined the following areas in detail:

- Pre-Event Information
- Learning Objectives
- Value, Relevance and Intent to Use
- Methodology
- Satisfaction with the Quality of Facilitators
- Applicability of After Action Review and Practical Exercises
- Overall Satisfaction of the Event
